

The Six Nations Community Hall has received the Award of Excellence in the Grand Valley Construction Association's 2006 Building Excellence Awards programme. The award honours the entire project team for working collaboratively on the concept, construction process and execution to overcome difficult circumstances and create a successful building.

Six Nations Community Hall was nominated for recognition in the Institutional, $2 - $10 million category with Nith Valley Construction Limited as Construction Managers, TSH as Architects and Engineers and Six Nations of the Grand River as Owner. The award was presented at a gala awards evening on April 28, 2006.

The Community Hall project includes offices for the Parks and Recreation Department, banquet facilities and community use areas. In addition to the community hall, the overall concept will incorporate a new 3,000 seat arena, basketball courts, seniors centre and outdoor sports fields. TSH has recently completed the rehabilitation of an existing practice arena as Phase Two of the concept.
